WIN Waste Innovations served as a Gold sponsor for the seventh annual Row Row Row in Revere canoe race, held on August 24 along the Pines River. The event brought together 43 boats to compete on a 3-mile course, launching from the Point of Pines Yacht Club.

Since the race's inception, WIN Waste Innovations has been a committed sponsor, supporting its mission to raise funds for individuals and families affected by Autism Spectrum Disorder.

"We are always pleased to partner with groups that actively work to make life better for others," said Mary Urban, Senior Director of Communications & Community at WIN Waste Innovations. "Row Row Row in Revere is a fantastic event that we are proud to support."

This year's race, coordinated by Stacey Livote, general manager of the Marina Restaurant & Bar at the Wharf, raised approximately $60,000—a testament to the community's generosity and the event's growing impact.

WIN Waste Innovations remains dedicated to supporting meaningful causes and fostering strong community partnerships such as this one, Urban said.
